

MARITIME AND NAVIGATION RISK CONFERENCE 2010

Managing and Reducing the Risk of Maritime Activities

April 7-8 2010, Hyatt Regency Montreal, Canada

Managing and Reducing the Risk of Maritime Activities

Two days of papers, workshops and networking with stakeholders and peers with the same interests in managing risks and marine safety. This is what the Maritime and Navigation Risk Conference offers you.

The 2-day program offers you presentations and workshops on the following risk areas:

- Navigation in Shallow and Confined Water
- Ice Navigation
- Human Element
- Structural and Equipment Failure

The detailed program will be available soon. Well-known and distinguished speakers will take part in the event. Be there!

Who will attend?

This conference is organized for stakeholders, from all sectors of the maritime industry, having an interest in risk management.

In particular, the program will be of interest to ship owners and ship operators, pilots, captains and officers, naval architects, risk specialists, classification societies, researchers in marine transportation and in risk assessment, engineering firms, governmental departments and agencies, environmental groups, marine equipment developers as well as graduate and postgraduate students.
